* Mrs. Erin Tindl Rainey is a native Floridian raised in Okaloosa County on the beautiful shores of the Emerald Coast. Tindl earned her Associate of Arts degree in 2001 from Northwest Florida State College (NWFSC) and continued her education at Florida State University (FSU), earning her Bachelor of Arts in Psychology in 2003 (Cum Laude, Psi Chi, National Honor Society).

Tindl Rainey's passion for understanding human behavior and her deep-rooted respect for the natural world paved the way for her 21+ year career with the Florida Fish & Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC). Her journey with FWC began as secretary to the Director of Licensing and Permitting. Over the years, she climbed the professional ladder, eventually becoming the Director of Licensing and Permitting. This role involved overseeing every Florida commercial and recreational hunting and fishing license, a $50+million revenue generator for the state.

Tindl Rainey's interest in human behavior and her value of the natural world fueled her career with FWC. The intersection of people and conservation has been the backdrop of her work, and she has served in various executive roles within the state agency, including shattering the "glass ceiling" and becoming the first female Director of Strategic Initiatives (overseeing Everglades restoration projects) and Chief Communications Officer for FWC. In these roles she was responsible for a staff of over 100 professionals.

Tindl Rainey is an alumni of the National Conservation Leadership Institute, and has won numerous awards including:

- 2015 Recipient: Office of Executive Director Award for Leadership,
- 2012 Recipient: Office of Executive Director Award for Personal Initiative.
- 2003 Recipient: Office of Executive Director Award for Superior Job Performance,
- Conservation Leaders for Tomorrow Workshop Certificate of Completion

Presently, Tindl Rainey is the Director of Conservation and External Relations for the Fish and Wildlife Foundation, a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization with a mission to protect our outstanding animals and plants and the lands and waters they need to survive. She is a dreamer and big-picture thinker, always looking to the horizon for innovative and collaborative solutions.

Tindl Rainey is a dedicated wife and mother to two kids, belongs to her local church, and is a respected community member who always volunteers her time to good causes (Member of the Directional Leadership Team of a local faith-based organization, Student leader for local middle and high school student groups, Volunteer with Tallahassee Fast Pitch Softball Association, Team leader for Night to Shine, a prom for people with special needs, hosted by a local organization in partnership with the Tim Tebow Foundation).

Tindl shines with pride whenever she gets to impart where she is from and how her educational journey started at NWFSC. I cannot think of a better person for the NWFSC Distinguished Alumni Award.
